MicroAge wins BusinessPeople's Choice Award

MicroAge, Canada's leading franchise network of information technology solution providers, has won the BusinessPeople's Choice IT Solutions Providers award, based on a national survey of over 2,200 Canadian IT managers drawn from a wide range of company sizes and industry sectors.

Canadian solution providers were ranked according to the number of times that the survey respondents listed them as technology leaders. "We are very excited about this award," said Patrick Waid, [MicroAge] president and chief executive officer; "MicroAge is a long established franchise organization with deep roots and strong customer relationships in communities all across Canada. We are gratified to see this high level of recognition within the business community."

This awarding event took place in Toronto on November 25th 2009.
